Have You Accessed Naloxone?

We want to understand why you have accessed naloxone - including what makes it easier or more difficult to access- among individuals who do NOT have personal experience with opioids (i.e. family member, friends, bystander) in order to improve naloxone policies and programs.

PARTICIPANTS

Ontario residents 18 years or older who do NOT have personal experience with opioids yet have accessed a naloxone kit.

ABOUT US

The Ontario Drug Policy Research Network (ODPRN) is a team of researchers who work with a variety of groups within Ontario to research drug safety. One of our core areas of research is the safe use of opioids.

INVOLVEMENT

One hour telephone interview to understand people's perspectives and experiences with naloxone. Participants will be compensated for their time. Further details here: https://goo.gl/Pne5hU
