

WE NEED YOU TO HELP SHAPE DRUG POLICY IN ONTARIO

Join our Citizens' Panel today!

Who are we?

The Ontario Drug Policy Research Network (ODPRN) is a group of established researchers who work with Ontario policymakers to produce research on drug policy, safety and effectiveness to guide and inform their decisions.

What is the Citizens' Panel?

A group of Ontarians who come together to ensure that the ODPRN appropriately identifies issues of importance to the public and incorporates these priorities into all aspects of our research.

Members are compensated for their time.

Members are formally acknowledged on published material for their contributions.

How would you contribute?

Participate in meetings every 2 months and as study team members on projects of interest.

Direct the focus of our research and contextualize findings for policymakers.

Share your experiences and suggestions for improvements to Ontario's healthcare system.

Influence research designed to inform drug policy in Ontario.

"I like being part of the Citizens' Panel because I feel like my voice is heard and I am making a difference in Ontario drug policy."

- Matt Joosse, Citizens' Panel Chair

If you are interested in getting involved, please email
emily.schneider@unityhealth.to